

Mohammad Reza Mirhosseini

---

Email: mmirhoss@depaul.edu

Education	Ph.D. Economics, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign	2007
	M.Sc. Socio-Economic Systems Engineering Institute for Research in Planning and Development, Tehran, Iran	1997
	B. Sc. Electrical Engineering Amirkabir University of Technology, Tehran, Iran	1994
Employment	Term Faculty, DePaul University	2015-Present
	Assistant Professor of Economics, Northern Illinois University	2007-2015
Publication	“Optimal Wages for Politicians”, Southern Economic Journal, 2016.
	“Primaries with Strategic Voters: Trading off Electability and Ideology”, Social Choice and Welfare, 2015.
Working Papers	“Policy Interdependence and Evaluation of Public Policies”
	“Voting and Abstention in Multi-round Elections”
	“Sequential Selection of Players in a Draft Game with Partial Information”
	“The Role of SWF in Iran’s Economy”
Works in Progress	“An Alternative Model of Political Choice”
Teaching Experience	DePaul University	2015-Present
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Principles of Microeconomics (Undergraduate level)</li><li>Intermediate Microeconomics (Undergraduate level)</li><li>Money and Banking (Undergraduate level)</li><li>Health Economics (Undergraduate Level)</li><li>Microeconomics of Market Organization (Graduate Level)</li><li>Business Analytics (MBA Program)</li></ul>
	Northern Illinois University	2007-2015
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Intermediate Microeconomics (Undergraduate level)</li><li>Public Economics (Undergraduate Level)</li><li>Public Economics (Graduate Level)</li><li>Seminar Course (Ph.D. Level)</li></ul>

Teaching Assistant, responsible for holding lectures for the following courses:

- Principles of Microeconomics
- Principles of Macroeconomics
- Mathematical Methods in Economics (Graduate Level)
- Microeconomic Theory (Ph.D. Level)

Teaching Awards Robert E. Demarest Memorial Award for Teaching Excellence, Department of Economics, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, 2004

University of Illinois Incomplete List of Teachers Ranked Outstanding/Excellent by Students, Fall 2002, Spring 2003, Fall 2003, Spring 2004, Fall 2004, Fall 2005, Spring 2006

Invited Talks

- Northern Illinois University, (Sequential Selection of Players in a Draft Game with Partial Information) 2013.
- Sharif University of Technology, Tehran, Iran (Policy Interdependence and Evaluation of Public Policies) 2013
- Conference in Iran's Economy, University of Chicago, (Voting Behavior in Multiple Round Elections: An Analysis of The 2005 Presidential Election in Iran) 2010
- University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, (Optimal Wages for Politicians) 2010
- DePaul University, (Populism: Socialist vs. Oligarchic.) 2010
- Xavier University, (Primaries with Strategic Voters: Trading off Electability and Ideology) 2009
- Illinois Economic Association, (Populism, Redistribution and Investment) 2007